

Gen Z: Beyond Zoom Identity

Christine Marie Lim Magpile

University of the Philippines, Diliman

Have you found your long-lost bestie,
Who might be in Italy or Bali?
Far as a person could be
In a remote city or another country,
Messages can now be sent in a jiffy.

Thanks to Google Search and the Wiki community,
Getting info has become more handy.
With everyone having a digital identity,
It's more interesting to study
Amidst the ever-evolving technology.

From dusty chalkboards to PowerPoints on LCD,
We've moved to online learning and the advent of virtual reality.
Video assignments have unleashed your artistic creativity,
From dancing videos, you post on Tiktok and IG,
Now doing your homework makes you feel like the next YouTube celebrity!

One would wonder, what would technology be in the next century?
It would certainly be a surprise with this generation's ingenuity.
While you desire to be independent and free,
Let's not forget to act responsibly.
Say no to cyberpiracy!
And protect yourself from cyber pornography!

The post-pandemic world has left us with challenges facing humanity.
As Gen-Z, where do you stand, where do you long to be?
Will Fortnite, Roblox, or Metaverse be part of your leisure activity?
Or will you Minecraft your quest on new learning adventures with your online Zoom buddy?
Whether the physical world or virtual reality,
Choose to respond to a meaningful call of duty.